

Satellite radio is the future. A customer of XM Radio for a year, I can vouch for the quality of the programming, and convenience of access from anywhere. This stands in stark contrast to the lowest-common-denominator programming found in commercial radio. I understand that the NAB has been soliciting congressional support with campaign contributions, but to let them buy votes to limit satellite radio is shameful, and worse, not in the public interest.